

Early Journal Content on JSTOR, Free to Anyone in the World

This article is one of nearly 500,000 scholarly works digitized and made freely available to everyone in the world by JSTOR.

Known as the Early Journal Content, this set of works include research articles, news, letters, and other writings published in more than 200 of the oldest leading academic journals. The works date from the mid-seventeenth to the early twentieth centuries.

We encourage people to read and share the Early Journal Content openly and to tell others that this resource exists. People may post this content online or redistribute in any way for non-commercial purposes.

Read more about Early Journal Content at <http://about.jstor.org/participate-jstor/individuals/early-journal-content>.

JSTOR is a digital library of academic journals, books, and primary source objects. JSTOR helps people discover, use, and build upon a wide range of content through a powerful research and teaching platform, and preserves this content for future generations. JSTOR is part of ITHAKA, a not-for-profit organization that also includes Ithaka S+R and Portico. For more information about JSTOR, please contact support@jstor.org.

the Revolution and a leader of the "Boston Tea Party" of 1773. He was married in 1849 to Miss Sally R. Coffin, daughter of Mr. Stephen Coffin, of Damariscotta, Me., who with a daughter survives him.

---

ASSOCIATE FELLOWS.

SAMUEL GREENE ARNOLD.

THE HON. SAMUEL GREENE ARNOLD, elected an Associate Fellow of the Academy Nov. 9, 1859, died on the 12th of February last, in his fifty-ninth year. Born at Providence, R. I., April 12, 1821, he was graduated at Brown University in 1841, and afterwards pursued his professional studies at the Cambridge Law School. He was more than once Lieutenant-Governor of Rhode Island, and for a brief period a Senator of the United States for that State. During the late civil war he served the Union cause for some time as a volunteer Aide-de-Camp to Governor Sprague. He was President of the Rhode Island Historical Society for many years, delivered many addresses, and contributed numerous articles to historical and literary periodicals. His principal work was a "History of Rhode Island," in two volumes, first published in 1859-60.

ISAAC HAYS.

DR. ISAAC HAYS died at his residence in Philadelphia on the 12th of April, 1879, aged eighty-three years.

He was born in Philadelphia, and after taking his degree in Arts at the University of Pennsylvania, in 1815, he entered his father's counting-room, and was for a time engaged in the East India trade. But he soon found this uncongenial work, and, leaving the office, he again entered the University and took his degree in medicine in 1820.

In 1827 he was appointed on the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Journal of the Medical and Physical Sciences, which afterward became the American Journal of Medical Sciences, and for more than fifty years his best energies were devoted to editing this Journal, with an ability, judgment, and industry which placed it in the front rank of American medical publications, and gained for it an honored position abroad.

Finding that the profession were in need of some more frequent publication of the same high standard, he began a monthly supplement,